Mathematics- We will be reviewing for Math EOGs. The students will work on class work that they will sometimes have to finish for homework and/or practice pages to review. They should also be studying the list of vocabulary words from the year that I passed out on Monday of this week. They should use their notes, class handouts, a dictionary, or math websites (on my classroom website) to help them study the vocabulary.

Social Studies- This week we are studying some of the causes of the Civil War. We will be reviewing some prominent figures of that time and the battles that began the war.
